(Special By Scripps-McRae.)
Berlin, Sept. 8.—The government has received the official report of the sinking of the Haytian gunboat Crete A. Perriot by the German gunboat Panther in the harbor of Gonaves, acting under the instruction from the German government. The boat was riddled to pieces and sunk after being fired and deserted.

Ordered to Leave
The sailors and gunners under Admiral Killick were ordered to surrender the boat and leave it in fifteen minutes. They asked for more time and on its being granted they escaped to the shore, firing the boat as they left. The Panther then proceeded to shell the burning vessel to avoid any explosion of the magazine.

Act of Retaliation
The destruction of the Haytian gunboat was in retaliation for the capture of a German vessel by that boat, and thus committing an act of piracy. The Perriot was in the service of the Firmin party who are opposed to the government.

Wisconsin Mechanic Discovers a Miniature Blind Hippopotamus While Making Repairs.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 8.—Bert Student, employed by Thill & Lapitz of this city, found in a well he was repairing a nest of most peculiar animals. He captured one and put it in alcohol. It is about three inches long, cream color, with black markings about a quarter of an inch long all over the body. In shape it resembles a miniature hippopotamus with its legs sawed off close to the body. From the large mouth two forks of a spindle tongue protrude and with this the animal feels its way about. It has no eyes, indicating that it is a species that lives in caves or other dark places. Just what the animal is and how it got there is a mystery, for it is evidently miles from its regular place of abode.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 8.—Two men, John Keata and Frank Patrick, were clubbed to death early this morning by a crowd of the strikers' pickets at the Maltby mine. The affair happened in the fog and the men beaten were both strikers on their way to join their comrades in an early morning attack upon the Maltby colliery.

BECAME A HUSBAND ON HIS DEATH BED

Bridegroom of a Few Hours Dies in an Operation, and Leaves
His Wife Millions.

New York, Sept. 8.—(Special).—Bradford B. McGregor, son of the late Ambrose M. McGregor of the Standard Oil Company, underwent a serious surgical operation yesterday at his home at Mamaroneck. Just before the ordeal a wedding ceremony was performed in Mr. McGregor's bedroom by which Miss Clara Schlemmer of New York became his bride and will inherit his millions in case he does not recover. The ceremony took place at 10 o'clock. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a staff of specialists carried the bridegroom to the operating table and applied the knife. The patient is in a serious condition, but the physicians say that nothing but the operation could restore him to health. The bride is an attractive blonde, tall and graceful. She is a daughter of Wm. Schlemmer, a wealthy wholesale piano dealer of New York.

Very Weak.
The bridegroom, who was very weak, was raised in his bed with pillows and responded feebly to the services. After the ceremony was over the guests fled quietly out of the room in order that he might be alone with his bride until the time of the ordeal which meant life or death to him.

A Peculiarity of the Snake.
A remarkable phenomena in connection with the digestive powers of big snakes has been observed. It seems that the gastric juices of their stomachs are so powerful that they dissolve even the bones and teeth of the animals they have swallowed. A peculiar fact is that, on occasions when the snake has accidentally swallowed one of its own teeth, the tooth will be found undigested; whereas, the teeth of its prey always disappear in the

REV. DENISON IS WELCOMED HOME

LARGE CONGREGATIONS GREETED HIM AT SUNDAY SERVICES.

ON HIS RETURN FROM EUROPE

Popular Pastor Preaches an Able Sermon in the Morning on "The Children of God."

For the first time in two months, Rev. Robert C. Denison spoke from his pulpit at the Congregational church on Sunday, having recently returned from his vacation trip to the British Isles. Cordial indeed was the welcome which he found awaiting him, the church being filled with large and attentive congregations at both the morning and evening services. At the close of both services people pressed forward to speak a personal word of welcome and the heartiness of the informal reception thus accorded both Rev. Denison and his wife must have been very gratifying to them.

In honor of Rev. Denison's home coming special attention was given to the decorations of the church, which was prettily draped with yellow and white bunting and beautified with cut flowers in the same colors. The musical service was also very fine being furnished by the large chorus choir with Mrs. F. E. Lewis at the organ. The congregation enjoyed a rare treat in the presence and singing of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Adams, who have returned this summer from Europe where they have been studying music and who are the guests of Mrs. Adams' mother, Mrs. J. H. Jones. Mrs. Adams' pure soprano voice was heard in an exquisite solo at the morning service and at the evening service she and her husband sang a duet.

Sons of God
At the morning service Rev. Denison chose for his text the fourteenth verse of the eighth chapter of Romans: "For as many as are led by the spirit of God, they are the sons of God." In introducing his subject Rev. Denison commented on the fact that Christianity had suffered more at the hands of its friends than of its enemies. However, he said, they may have struggled, the latter have never been able to seriously impede the progress of the church of God. In one of the early councils in which those who opposed the faith of the Nazarenes were gathered together, one man rose up and said, "If this work be of God, ye cannot overthrow it."

God Inevitable
He spoke truly. From Celsus in the first century, to Robt. Ingersoll in this men have struggled to overthrow the faith which was set before the world by the Son of God, but they have never yet been able to appreciably interfere with the success of that great faith.

Friends Are Enemies
Those who profess to be the friends of Christianity are the ones who are apt to do actual injury to the faith which they profess. The culpable ones are those who profess to be the friends of Christianity, and are heartless, cowardly, or weak, and shrink a part of their duties, or do them in such a shiftless way as to bring discredit on the name of him whom they call their master.

Narrowness of Thought
Again, they do great injury to Christianity by over zealousness and narrowness of thought. Many place close limits to the people to whom the name Christian should apply. There are many who say that the only persons approved of Christ are those who lived up to a certain prescribed and ritualistic forms, or those who are born of a certain blood or race. In their desire to exalt Jesus men have said that God selected a few to be saved, and has banished millions of others to darkness simply because they chanced to have been in an unenlightened country.

Feared Disloyalty
One reason for this attitude has been that men have feared they would be disloyal to Christ if they did not make him an exclusive and exalted deity who stood in an intimate relation to only a few favored mortals. But Paul never had any such fear. It may be safely said that there never was so loyal a man as Paul.

Yielded To Impulse
There were many times in the life of Paul when he yielded to the old passions which had possessed him before he made the trip to Damascus and when he said what he afterward was thoroughly ashamed of, but in general, he was full of firm unswerving loyalty to Christ. With boldness he spoke of the truth that men might know. Therefore we need not be afraid to take Paul's view. We may safely rely on his definition when he said: "As many as are led of the spirit of God, they are the sons of God."

This definition is so broad and beautiful, so generous and sensible, that we wonder that men ever questioned its accuracy.

God's Sons
Who are the sons of God? In one sense every man ever born into this world is a son of God. He has set his mark upon every upright human being. In an English family there were two sons. One of them followed the prescribed habits of his ancestors, taking a university course, and finally attaining to a seat in parliament. The other son was wild and dissolute. Instead of going through school he left his home and led a reckless ungodly life in Australia. The two were as widely separated in nature and habits as could be, and yet they were the sons of the same parents. In that same way there is an all-embracing fatherhood of the infinite one. It is impossible to eliminate the divine element in the make-up of a man.

Common Blood
The rich man is despised who speaks disparagingly of the poor man, because the same blood is in the veins of both. A man is not asked to give for foreign missions because it is a good thing for him, or because it looks well, but because of the common bond between the heathen and the educated American.

Paul went deeper than this. He saw that while one son of a father might follow the father's guidance and example, the other ten went far astray. An English scientist recently wrote in a thin book the result of a lifetime's investigations of the presence of God in the world.

His conclusion was that a man was left alone and unaided in this world, and that there is no divine being who aids him. Few would assent to his atheistic teaching, but many who profess to believe on Christ might be puzzled to tell wherein they are personally influenced by him.

All Pervading Voice
No voice is heard so often as the voice of God. The influence of the divine person is closer than the air which he breathes. The story is told of a man who went far from the haunts of men into a rocky place in a mountain. From his exalted position he could see at a distance the lightning in the sky, and he said that God was talking to him. But God was not in the lightning. Then the earth under his feet was shaken by a mighty earthquake, and he said to himself that God was speaking to him. But God was not in the earthquake. Then he heard a still small voice which said to him: "What are you doing here? Is this the best you can do?" He then recognized the true voice of God.

Not Word But Act
To every man there comes the suggestion to live nobly. Every man thinks noble and beautiful thoughts. It is natural that members of this church should think such thoughts as they stand together at the beginning of a new church year. The best aspirations one ever knows are the breathing of God's spirit. It is not thoughts and aspirations, however that make one a son of God.

Two Great Classes
Two general classes comprise the entire world, and there is a clean and distinct line of cleavage between the two. Those on the one side prefer ease to the pursuit of the best suggestions. They have so long failed to follow the guidance of the master that their ears have become dulled so that they could no longer recognize his voice. Those who are on this side, who are moved by this spirit, are not the children of God. On the other side, in the other class are those who are led, and follow the guidance of the still, small voice. Everyone who breathes is in one class or the other, and riches, or poverty, or influence have no weight in making the distinction.

An Honorable Distinction
This is no empty honor that is pinned on the man regardless of what is within. Out of this honor comes the grandest and the highest happiness of life. It is always certain that he who follows the voice of God will at last be led into the still pastures of the life eternal.

BELOIT HOTEL IS SOLD FOR $60,000

TRANSFER OF GOODWIN HOUSE

Mrs. Edwin Fifield of This City, Sells Property to Several Beloit Capitalists.

By one property transfer which took place last Saturday all of Beloit's fond dreams for a new modern hotel were shattered. Instead the Beloit Hotel company decided to purchase the Goodwin hotel property of Mrs. Goodwin-Fifield of this city and remodel it. It was only when forced to this action that the company finally decided upon it, but every effort has been made to bring about the erection of a modern structure, even to clearing the site, and all in vain. No one was found who cared to invest in hotel property in the Line City and some action was imperative.

Forced to Action
Many months ago the officers of the Fairbanks-Morse company were assured that if they made certain extensions to their works, a new and first class hotel would be put up. As a hotel town Beloit has long been a hoodoo and the big plant "on the hills" hesitated about bringing more business to the city in which such wretched accommodations existed. A hotel company was organized, public spirited citizens took stock, mass meetings were held, but plan after plan fell through, Friday night it was admitted at a meeting of the stockholders that there was no possible way of fulfilling their promise save by refurbishing the old building as elaborately as possible. On Saturday the purchase was concluded.

For $60,000
Mrs. Fifield will receive $60,000 for the property, no principal to be paid for a number of years. A mortgage will be given at five per cent. The building and site will be secured in fact, and free from litigation. W. M. Brittan agreeing to discontinue his suit against the owner in regard to the bank rooms in the building. The hotel company will immediately expend the sum of $10,000 for improvements, and the building will be put in condition for immediate use.

Will Rent Building
As the plans now stand the building will be leased for a period of several years to a competent landlord who will keep faith with the company. It was stated at the business meeting in regard to the matter that several men had already asked for the privilege of renting the building in case it was decided to purchase it.

Strong Opposition
Several stock holders questioned whether it would be the honorable thing to the Fairbanks-Morse company to merely spend a few thousand dollars in improving old property when it had been understood that a new building would be erected. In fact the Dr. Johnson property, one block from the Goodwin house, had been purchased and cleared for building. This point was answered by the statement that the machine company had already fulfilled their share of the agreement, and something must be done. A half loaf was better than none. It was felt that as long as the Goodwin house property was standing unoccupied it would be a menace to anyone who attempted to open a hotel in the city.

NO AMUSEMENTS ON THE SABBATH

THE PROHIBITIONS SHOULD NOT CEASE WITH SUNDAY THEATER.

STOP NEEDLESS BUSINESS

Excursions, Base Ball, Golf and Open Stores Censured by Rev. Richard M. Vaughan.

Using the recent controversy over the Sunday theater as the inspiration for an able sermon against the desecration of the Sabbath, Rev. Richard M. Vaughan, pastor of the Baptist church, last evening raised his voice not only against the Sunday theater, but against open places of business, excursions, baseball or golf on Sunday, in fact against all needless business and mere amusements.

As to his text Rev. Vaughan chose the eighth verse of the twentieth chapter of Exodus, "Remember the Sabbath Day to Keep it Holy." He opened his sermon with an incident from the life of General Grant, who, when in Paris, declined an invitation from the president of the French republic which amounted almost to a command to attend the grand races on Sunday. In declining General Grant said that such a manner of spending the Sabbath was not in accord with the custom of his country nor the spirit of his religion. Instead he went to divine worship in the American chapel.

The Two Sundays
This incident illustrates the two widely different conceptions of Sunday, conceptions which may be distinguished as the continental Sunday and the Anglo Saxon Sunday. The continental Sunday is devoted largely to pleasure while the conception of Sunday which practically prevails wherever the English language is spoken, is that the day is a holy day, rather than a holiday, a day to be given to rest and worship. Needless work and mere amusement are to be discouraged.

Contest in America
America is the battlefield on which these two rival Sundays are contending. The early colonists, the Puritans, Scotch-Irish and French Huguenots believed in the Anglo Saxon Sunday, but later years with its large inflow of people from continental Europe has brought the other conception of Sunday and has precipitated the struggle as to which shall prevail.

Which Shall Prevail
Recent events in this city have shown that a skirmish in the battle is taking place here and gives rise to the question how best to spend Sunday. The answer is found in the two words, rest and worship. Rest is the basic idea of Sunday but to the law of rest there are numerous exceptions. Some things must be done on Sunday. Especially in complex civil life where the public comfort is intrusted so largely to individuals. These people, milkmen, druggists, railroad men or whatever they be, are not breaking the Sabbath, but people should beware of stretching the point. For those to whom Sunday is a busy day there ought to be some other day of rest.

Must Have Rest
If the law of rest is not regarded, life is soon exhausted and it is an historical fact that the man who works only six days, does more work and does it better than he who labors seven. The man who lays a profane hand on rest day is the world's enemy and no man needs to fear him more than the workman. It is this basic idea of rest which gives the state right to legislate for a rest day although it has no right to establish a day of worship. Sunday is not a religious but a civic institution and the state has a right to safeguard it by legislation.

Day For The Soul
Sunday should be observed not only as a day of rest but as a day of worship. Rest is not stagnation, it is doing something different. The highest use of the day is the worship of God and thoughts of the eternal. Sunday is a day for the soul as well as for the body. It is the day to clarify the ideals and gain power for the week. It affords a priceless opportunity for common public worship. It also gives an opportunity for personal culture, for meditation, good reading, singing and for getting acquainted with one's family. It is not a stuffy, joyless day. On it people may do as they please as long as it ministers to the person's higher life and to the higher life of others.

Preserve The Sabbath
The continuity of Christian religion depends on the preservation of the Anglo-Saxon Sunday. Some things are inconsistent with its observance and these things include needless business and mere amusements. Places of business should be closed. By what right does the public condemn some merchants to a continual round of toil? Many business men desire to close on Sunday if the rest would.

Needless Business
The tragedy of Sunday business is its needlessness. Take clothing for instance. People have to wear clothing and must buy it. Open clothing houses on Sunday do not add to the amount of clothing sold and it can just as well be bought some other day. Many would like to close. Let them come to an agreement and if some greedy fellow will not keep it, let the reputable merchants tell the people of it and they will not buy of this man on Sunday or any other day.

Closing of Theaters
The speaker expressed his gratitude to God that the Sunday theater had been discontinued and to the city authorities for acting so promptly. Chicago theatrical people have petitioned the state legislature to prohibit Sunday performances and the closed theater is to their interests as well as to those of the public. Saloons also should be closed.

A General Protest
There ought to be a protest against Sunday excursions, base ball and golf. Men who play golf on Sunday are not giving a salutary example to young people to say the least and the are allying themselves with the forces which work for evil. On one degree to which the divine law regarding the Sabbath is obeyed, depends the personal and national prosperity.

The Game Keeper
At the Myers Grand on Tuesday evening Con T. Murphy's latest success, "The Game Keeper" will be presented. Messrs. Rowland and Clifford, proprietors of this attraction are featuring Thos. J. Smith, a very clever singing and dancing comedian, who will be remembered as the star of the "Ivy Leaf" and "The Fairies Well." "The Game Keeper" differs considerably from anything in this line that has ever been produced by this author. While it abounds with pathos, it possesses a vein of comedy never attempted in an Irish comedy drama, thereby furnishing ample opportunity and scope for Mr. Smith to introduce his original songs that are so famous. Besides the star, Messrs Rowland and Clifford have given the play a most competent cast in every respect with a scenic dressing superior to any Irish comedy drama that has been produced in years.

A Hoo! Hoo!
This week the concatenated order of Hoo Hoo will meet in Milwaukee. The order which has initiation fees of 99 cents, annual dues of 99 cents, a black cat with its tail curled in the figure 9 as its badge and whose chief officer is known as the head shark of the universe, was reported by officers who have already arrived in the city, to have grown rapidly in the last year.

DEATH OF JAYCOX WAS ACCIDENTAL

VERDICT OF CORONER'S JURY

Unfortunate Man Electrocutated at Beloit, Had Been Repeatedly Warned of Danger.

"Accidental death" was the verdict of the coroner's jury which was empaneled by Coroner Marsh of Winnebago county, Illinois, to hear the evidence regarding the death of Arthur G. Jaycox of Fort Atkinson, who was killed in South Beloit, Saturday afternoon. The body was not removed from the scene of the accident for nearly two hours, when Mr. Marsh arrived on the interurban, and immediately assembled a jury.

Fully Warned.
According to the evidence that was given Jaycox had been repeatedly warned before he climbed the pole where he met his death, of the danger that he was in, and his instructions were very explicit. Nevertheless for some unknown reason he ran the risk that was too great, and his death was instantaneous.

How It Happened.
Jaycox was sent up the pole to measure its height, in order that the height pole necessary to pass a wire over the interurban wires for the telephone company could be learned. The pole that he climbed was one of the R. B. & J. line, and had on it the trolley wire arm, several telephone wires, and at the top a single feeder wire for the interurban. Just below it were two similar wires at a distance of about eight inches to each side of the pole. To run the tape line up to the top of the pole he should have passed his arm inside of one of these two feeders, which have a voltage of 1600. No one was looking at the moment of the accident, but it was agreed that he must have reached over the outside of one of these hot wires and touched it.

Hung on Wire.
Foreman Dietsch who was on the ground below, felt a shock in the tape which he was holding. The tape was of linen with a fine mesh of steel wire. Looking up he saw Jaycox hanging by the wrist to the wire, evidently held there by the current. After about thirty seconds the wrist fell away and the body dropped over backward, the feet being held in the telephone wires. It was found that his steel spurs had been in contact with the telephone wire, thus closing the circuit.

Already Dead.
Dietsch quickly secured a ladder and climbed the pole letting the body down by means of a rope. It was found that the man was already dead. Coroner Marsh of Rockford was immediately notified, and the body was not moved until his arrival. The accident took place 200 feet over the state line. There was no blackening or discoloration of the face or body, save for the left wrist which had been in contact with the live wire. There the flesh had been burned away almost to the bone.

Unmarried.
Jaycox had joined the gang three weeks ago, having formerly, according to his own statement, worked eight months as an electric light man but was green at the telephone business. He was twenty-two years of age and his home was in Fort Atkinson, where the body was taken on the 6:35 train from Beloit Saturday evening. So far as could be learned the young man was unmarried, but his parents were still living.

SAY STRIKE END IS CLOSE AT HAND

CHURCHGOERS GIVE TO MINERS

Audience at Chicago Falls Collection Baskets to Overflowing. Then Showers Coins and Bills on the Pulpit—More to Follow.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 8.—There are all sorts of rumors flying about concerning a settlement of the strike, and there is more excitement about the city than there has been in months. This has been made all the more intense by the presence in the city of John Mitchell, who arrived from Wilkesbarre. On reaching here he disappeared.

Ten Per Cent Advance.
The strike excitement here was due in part to the statement of Senator Platt to the effect that in any event the strike cannot endure much longer, and to the fact that General Superintendent May of the Hillside Coal and Iron company is quoted by a local paper as saying that the strike would end in less than two weeks, and that the men would be given an advance of 10 per cent. The sentiment seems to be growing that something important is on the tapis with regard to the strike, and every one is elated over a prospect of a settlement.

Says Mitchell Admits Defeat.
The Scranton Republican prints a story this morning that John Mitchell told a friend of his in Wilkesbarre on Saturday that the strike would end and the men be all back at work of Sept. 15, that it would be a defeat for the men, who would get no concessions, but that it was necessary to end the tie-up to save the union. The Republican is unable to give the name of its informant, being pledged to secrecy.

CHURCHES AID MINERS.

Stirring Speeches Cause Audience to Give Money to Strikers.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Bank notes and coins showered from the gallery of the First Methodist church for the relief of the striking miners in Pennsylvania after the collection baskets had been filled to overflowing. The offering was spontaneous. A big congregation, stirred to enthusiasm by the appeals of the speakers, quickly filled the baskets passed by the ushers, and then the occupants of the gallery, eager to add, lacked the patience to wait until the receptacles could be emptied and passed among them. The donations formed a snug sum as a nucleus for a miners' fund which is to be furnished by the churches of Chicago. Stirring speeches by the men on the platform worked up the feelings of the congregation. It was resolved that next Sunday should be a day for collections to add to the miners' fund in all the churches.

THE JANESVILLE GIRL.
"The Flower of the Fair."
By E. Francis Moran.
"Arise and take the prize of the fairest of the fair."

Go where you will, the world around,
All beautiful styles compare,
Surely the Janesville girl is found
The fairest of the fair.

In dress so neat, with face so sweet,
In styles so debonnaire,
She trips down Milwaukee street—
The fairest of the fair.

The Janesville girl is often blonde,
The brunette type's more rare;
In chic and style she's far beyond
Her rivals everywhere.

I would not hesitate to say
Or on the Gospel swear,
Rove beauty's garden as you may—
She's the flower of the fair.

She is well read in all late books,
At Crystal Springs takes air,
Loves the music of running brooks—
The flower of the fair.

This fragrant bud is sweetest found
In Lower City's Third Ward, where
Its plucocrats do most abound—
This flower of all the fair.

'Tis there you'll meet such beauty as
Would make Mahomet stare,
His Hour is outmatched by each pretty lass—
The flower of all the fair.

In hammock, or in shady dell,
Or 'neath the gas light's glare
Her charms are more than I can tell—
This flower of Janesville fair.

'Twould be a task for a Laureate,
Far more than I could dare
Her beauty to fitly celebrate—
She is than words more fair.

IMMENSE BLAST IS SUCCESSFUL

FOUR THOUSAND CUBIC YARDS OF ROCK REMOVED

AT STONE CRUSHING PLANT

Plans and Calculations of Alderman
James McLean and His Assistants Were Perfect.

Several hundred persons were on hand at the city crusher Sunday afternoon to witness the mammoth blast. The latter was successful in every respect, breaking the rock into pieces small enough to be easily handled, but not small enough to require shovelling. Not a stone was thrown farther than those who had the work in charge had expected, and although many stood comparatively near to the scene of the blast, no one was struck by the flying fragments.

Enormous Ledge
By this blast an enormous ledge of rock was removed. The rock blasted loose was in what is known as a fifty foot bench, with a face of seventy feet. The rock was removed back of this face for a distance of about eighteen feet. Back of this point the rock was jarred for several feet more, but this was regarded as rather unfortunate as it will be more difficult to make the next blast, than if a clear surface were left. Mr. McLean who had the blast in charge calculated that about four thousand cubic yards of rock were removed. The above dimensions do not seem to indicate quite such a quantity, but Mr. McLean said that with the amount that was shaken loose the total would reach that sum.

Five Borings
Briarty and Caldwell with their well drilling machinery had sunk five five and a half inch holes in the rock, fifty feet deep, so arranged as to be eleven feet apart. These holes were loaded with a total of eleven hundred pounds of Actina dynamite, and three hundred pounds of contractors' powder. The latter was used in preference to the common blasting powder as it is rendered fifty per cent more powerful by the addition of about ten per cent of nitro glycerine.

In Three Sections
The purpose of the blast was to break up the rock in the proper size for immediate handling. This was done by loading and tamping each boring in three sections of about sixteen feet each, of alternate dynamite and powder. A dynamite cap was placed in each section, and each cap connected by wire with an electric battery, making fifteen caps by which the charge was set off. The wiring was done by H. C. Klein.

Slightly before four o'clock the word "fire" was given by Alderman James McLean and at the word the charge was set off by an electric generator which was located in a clump of trees at some distance from the face of the rock. The entire mass rose evenly in the air, and fell with very little scattering. Huge shelves of rock were hurled against the opposite wall of the quarry, from the face. In the other directions the rock was thrown but a short distance.

Well Calculated
The tracks on which the loading cars are run to the crusher had been taken up to that point where it had been judged that the rocks would be thrown, and hardly a rock passed beyond that limit. The aldermanic committee which was present was well pleased with the blast, and expressions of commendation were heard on every side. It is calculated that about one thousand more cubic yards were removed by this blast than by the last.

GOOD MEETING AT Y. M. C. A. BUILDING

A. E. MATHESON THE LEADER

His Able Address Followed by a General Discussion—Bible Class

Resumed.
Because of the expected presence of Francis Murphy in Janesville next Sunday the regular monthly meeting of the Murphy League which should have been held yesterday was adjourned for one week. Instead of the usual program under the auspices of the temperance organization, an able address was given by Mr. Alex. E. Matheson. His theme was a general discussion of the important things of life, and was fully appreciated by those who were present. About forty men were in attendance.

At the close of Mr. Matheson's talk several others spoke briefly on the topic under discussion, after which the meeting was closed with singing.

Bible Study Resumed
Immediately after the meeting, the first session of the men's Bible class, after a vacation lasting through the summer months was held. F. F. Lewis resumed his place as leader of the class. Many have expressed their regret that this class is not more generally attended, especially since those who have made a custom of attending its meetings have given such glowing testimony to the great help it has been to them.

Splendid Meeting
Every preparation will be made that the Murphy meeting next week may be as profitable and as largely attended as possible. The meeting will be open to all. During the summer, and ever since its organization the Murphy League has been doing a grand work, and it is hoped that a fitting welcome may be given to the guardian patron of the order when he returns.

Suit Opening Tuesday
Mr. Rittenhouse of Strawberry and Clothier, Philadelphia, will be at our store, Tuesday, the 9th, with a large line of suits, jackets, skirts, prepared to take special orders made to one's measure.

TRIED TO PASS FORGED CHECKS

JAMES RANDALL UNDER ARREST
ON SERIOUS CHARGE.

JUST CAME FROM CHICAGO

He Made Use of Fred Jones' Name in an Unlawful Manner.

James Randall, a married man living on South Academy street, found out on Sunday morning that the signing of other people's names to checks was bad business. As the result of his manipulations of the pen he is now in jail to await the charge of forging Fred R. Jones' name to three checks, one of which he tried to pass at F. H. Baack's and the other at F. H. Baack's and was turned down in both places.

Randall has been at work in Chicago for some time and came home on Saturday night to get his wife to go back to Chicago with him. She said that he stayed at home Sunday, but went away about five o'clock this morning.

Shortly after Lyman Wilbur opened up the Hotel London bar this morning Randall came in. He asked for a sheet of paper and an envelope to write a letter to Chicago. Mr. Wilbur directed him to the desk in the front part of the bar room and told him to help himself. The desk was closed and Randall pulled out a drawer that contained some of Mr. Jones' papers and a number of cancelled checks on the Rock County National bank. It is thought that this is where he first got the idea of forging the checks as he had a book of blank Rock County bank checks that he found on the street some time ago.

Gets The Blanks
Mr. Wilbur noticed Randall pull out the drawer and told him to suit it and pull down the lid. Randall did this and after writing his letter asked if he could buy a stamp. Mr. Wilbur started to accommodate him, but Randall discovered that he had some in his pocket book and stamped the letter and walked out. This was the last that Wilbur heard of him until he was called up by telephone by Louis Hemmens at Baack's store and told that a man was there trying to pass a check with Fred R. Jones' name signed to it.

A Forgery
He said to him that the check was a forgery and told Hemmens to keep watch of the man until he called an officer. He then called up the Riverside hotel and Officer Fanning who was eating his breakfast at the time started out to get the man.

Presents Checks
Randall went into Baack's store shortly after seven o'clock. He presented a check for $21.00 to Louis Hemmens and asked him to cash it. Hemmens said that he did not have the money and said that he would not cash it anyway, and then telephoned to Wilbur. Randall left the store before Fanning arrived and Hemmens kept track of him. He started for the Northwestern station and on his way stopped at F. H. Baack's office and tried to get a check for $21.50 cashed there, but was refused.

Is Arrested

From F. H. Baack's he went to the Northwestern station and soon after Officer Fanning arrived. When the officer showed up Randall started to run around the station. Ed. Welch and Louis Rock joined in the chase and cornered Randall on Marion street and Officer Fanning put him under arrest and took him to the lock up.

Denies Attempts
Randall claimed that he did not try to pass any checks and did not know how he got them. He had three checks drawn on the Rock County National bank for $21.50 each. One was signed Fred R. Jones, one Fred Jones and in the third the Jones part of the signature was not complete. They were all payable to James Zann and one was indorsed Frank Zann. The signature is nothing like Mr. Jones' and would be detected at once as a forgery by any one familiar with the genuine.

Not Right Mentally

The officers are inclined to believe that Randall is not right mentally and does not realize what he has done. He has a wife and one child and the child is expected to die at any time. He will be given a hearing before Judge F. H. Baack tomorrow morning.

During these many years Mrs. Butler made many friends for herself, both in Emerald Grove and in this city and the news of her death will come as a severe shock to them all. He leaves beside his wife and children three half brothers, George, William and Arthur Fisher of Ohio, and two brothers, Seth and Labin Fisher of this city.

While a resident of the town of Center he held many offices of public trust and was justice of the peace for many years. ONE BOSS SHAVED A MAN ON LABOR DAY.

HE BROKE THE AGREEMENT

Man in Question Does Not Fear the Result of the Meeting to Be Held Tonight.

This evening a meeting of the barbers' union will be held at which it is expected that charges will be preferred against the barber who shaved Mr. Morgan on Labor day, when all other shops were closed. The gentlemen against whom the accusation is made said this morning, in a jocular way, that by morning he would be hanging to one of the nearest telegraph poles.

Is Serious
Then, more seriously, he went on to say that he hoped that his accusers would have the courage to face him tonight with their charges. He had never yet done anything of which he was ashamed, and he was sure that no one would have objected to his actions in this case, if he had not in the past been so prominent in urging the strict observance of the law.

Madison Democrat: If you have any doubt who pays the expense of the anthracite coal strike casually on your coal bill.

Winneconne Local: A number of candidates for county offices have exhibited their running qualities in the village the past few days.

Milwaukee News: The grindstone industry has been organized into a trust, but there is no monopoly on the turning end of the business.

Minneapolis Journal: A Janesville Wis. man lost his store teeth had himself X-rayed under the impression that they stood in the same relation to him as the canary did to the kitty, but they could not be found.

Cincinnati Commercial Tribune: In declaring that he wouldn't be a candidate for re-election unless he changed his mind, Carter Harrison ought to take into consideration the great improbability of his constituents changing theirs.

Oskaloosa (Iowa) Independent: Here's a merger that beats the biggest of the railroad mergers. Leon Aadrinkewensie and Miss Panna Dygowskiewensie of Darrel county were married a few days ago. There's lots more room in the county since these two names were telescoped.

Omaha Bee: All the river craft calling at the port of Omaha have been placed under an embargo and navigation has been completely closed by the seizure of one vessel that piles along the river front. Strange to say, this sudden interference with our shipping industry has not, so far as the naked eye can see, had any tendency to stagnate commerce or paralyze industry.

Boston Daily Advertiser: The release of Gaylor and Greene at Quebec was one of the things that tend to promote bad feeling between the United States and Canada. If Gaylor and Greene had been fugitives from Canadian justice, and had taken refuge in the United States, the chances are that the meat would have been sent back. The amount of time which Judge Caron of Quebec took in explaining his own personal part in the case was significant to everybody who knows what part in this affair the Americans' money has played.

Nonpareil man in the Minneapolis Journal. While playing in the yard of his father's house at Shakopee, Minn., twenty-four years ago, Charlie Jackson swallowed a railroad spike. He was a sturdy boy of strong digestion, he thought little about the accident at the time, and did not tell his father for fear of a whipping. He was ailing some, however, during the winter, and the doctor that looked him over said that he thought he needed a little iron. Last week, feeling a little itching sensation in his foot he took off his stocking and noticed a small black spot under the skin. Using his knife, he broke the epidermis and drew out a small tack which he would not have recognized as the spike of twenty-four years before had it not been it had on the trade mark of the Omaha road. The case is considered a very remarkable one.

Menorrhagia and Leukorrhea—Miss E. G., aged sixteen years, high school student. Patient came to us for treatment September 25, 1900. Complaints: Irregularity of menses, coming any time from two to five weeks, menorrhagia; leukorrhea, gleet (soft variety), also pains in lower limbs and feet, almost constant headache and constipation. History: At age of three years the patient fell from a porch, striking the lower dorsal region. This fall was followed by a run of fever which left both limbs paralyzed, lasting for a number of weeks. The left limb has never fully developed and upon walking or standing always tires very quickly. Examination showed the following: Atlas anterior; third, fourth and fifth dorsal vertebrae anterior, seventh, eighth and ninth dorsal having a posterior tendency; eleventh and twelfth dorsal and fifth lumbar also anterior; sixth, seventh and eighth ribs on the right side, also eleventh and twelfth ribs on the left side were turned down. The left innominate was posterior with slight increase in the length of the left leg. There was great tenderness throughout the entire length of the spine, also at Symphysis Pubis and left sacro-iliac synchondrosis. Owing to the neurasthenic condition of the patient our treatment was necessarily very light at first; after about the fourth treatment we were able to do some work on the deeper structures, correcting the vertebrae and raising the misplaced ribs, which after a few times replacing remained in proper position. The posterior innominate was given attention at each treatment. Special treatment was given to the liver and bowels, also to the lower limbs, stimulating nerve and blood supply to them. About December 15, 1900, we advised one month's rest from treatment as the improvement in the case had been very gratifying. Patient did not report for six weeks. Bowels regular, headaches discontinued, leukorrhea absent, pains in limbs not occurring, gleet, although not entirely absent, was greatly reduced in size, soreness at the innominate articulation was not present. During January, 1901, an occasional treatment was given. February 1, 1901, case was dismissed. Upon inquiry about the last of April we learn from a relative that Miss G. has continued to improve in health since leaving the clinic and seems well in every respect. Patient received two treatments per week.

THE GHOST

Of our boyhood resolved itself to an old tree when we had courage to examine it. Manhood has its ghosts, which, to the man who has courage to confront them, prove to be as harmless as the ghosts of boyhood.

One of the ghosts which scare a great many people is the ghost of lung disease. But experience shows this ghost to be very harmless. In cases almost innumerable "weak" lungs have been made strong, obstinate coughs stopped, and bronchial affections cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

And these cures have been wrought in many cases after the doctor had said—"There is no help for you." Don't give in to the superstition of a past age. Give the "Golden Medical Discovery" a fair and faithful trial. It always helps. It almost always cures.

"When I commenced taking your medicine eighteen months ago, my health was completely broken down," writes Mr. C. L. Sunderland of Chaneyville, Calvert Co., Md. "At times I could not even walk across the room without pains in my chest. The doctor who attended me said I had lung trouble, and that I would never be well again. At last I concluded to try Dr. Pierce's medicine. I bought a bottle of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' took it, and soon commenced to feel a little better; then you directed me to take both the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Favorite Prescription,' with Todd's Kidney Pills. I have taken eighteen bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery,' twelve of the 'Favorite Prescription,' and five vials of 'Pellets.' I am now almost entirely well, and do all my work without any pain whatever, and can run with more ease than I could formerly make."

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

BARTHOLOIN'S BODY IS FOUND IN IOWA

CLEAR MEN UNDER ARREST

Leaves a Note Stating That Thompson, Claffy and Counselman Had Nothing to Do With the Crime, Which He Admits Perpetrating.

Riceville, Iowa, Sept. 8.—That it was William Bartholin whose body was found in a field near this place last Friday was proved beyond possibility of doubt when the remains were exhumed in the potter's field. Identification was made easy by the fact that the teeth showed the same dental work that was described by a Chicago dentist as having been done for Bartholin and by William Mitchell's instantaneous recognition of the dead man's features.

Takes His Own Life.
Thus, exclaiming by suicide the double crime of murdering his mother, Mrs. Anna Bartholin, and his sweetheart, Minnie Mitchell, young Bartholin, who fled from his home Aug. 5, has finally solved his own part in one of the most puzzling mysteries that have ever confronted the Chicago police department.

Letter From a Woman.
Burdened with remorse, shaken by the constant fear of capture and driven to distraction by the discovery that a man for whom he was working had read a mysterious letter from a woman which may have disclosed his identity, Bartholin had gone to a corner of a lonely field, propped himself against a shock of grain and, presumably with the same revolver that ended Miss Mitchell's life, put a bullet in his brain.

Accuses Minnie Mitchell.
In the confession which he left behind him the desperate fugitive admitted his crimes and in addition left an imputation upon the character of the girl he had slain. This was an insinuation that Minnie Mitchell had more than an innocent knowledge of the killing of Mrs. Bartholin at 4310 Calumet avenue on the night of July 7. The words bearing this blind intelligence are:

"It was all Minnie and I could do."

Body Is Bartholin's.
"It is Bartholin without possibility of mistake," said Mr. Mitchell, brother of the murdered Chicago girl, as soon as his gaze rested on the swollen, discolored face.

"And that's the man I came with all the way from Chicago and whom I knew there as George Edwards," exclaimed John J. Dvorak, a detective who formerly was employed by a Chicago detective agency.

Keeps Letters Secret.
The letters written by the Mitchell girl to Bartholin probably never will be made public. In this respect Corner Carpenter made a short statement before leaving for Lima Springs. He said:

"The false teeth and the corns found on the body of the man on whom I held an inquest as George Edwards fixes the identity beyond a doubt as William J. Bartholin.

Loved Another Woman.
"At the request of the family of Minnie Mitchell the letters she had written are kept from the press and will remain in my possession for the present."

Bartholin came and lived here unsuspected. He died partly solving partly deepening the mystery of his tragedies, and a mysterious woman forced the climax. This woman lives in Chicago and she has friends who are still Bartholin's friends.

Adds More Mystery.

Somewhere in Chicago to-day that woman mourns the death of her sweetheart, though he died a murderer and suicide. It is this woman, one who has known Bartholin's movements since he fled from the scene of his outrages, that hastened the self-destruction of the young criminal. The police have never known of her existence. She is the missing link in the chain of evidence that all efforts to complete have failed.

Bartholin's Confession.
Following is the confession found in a pocket of a coat Bartholin wore when he killed himself:

"To Whom It May Concern: I wish to state that I am the Bartholin the police are looking for. I also wish to certify that I had no assistance of any kind from anyone. Thompson, Claffy and Counselman are all as innocent as an unborn child and should be freed at once.

"I cannot go into details in regard to the crime. They were not planned. It was all Minnie and I could do. My mind is wandering. Such a drop in life in so short a time, two months ago traveling in the best company, to-day leading the life of hoboes, a murderer.

"I intended to go into details and tell all, but I can't get my mind centered. Even my handwriting is disgraceful, but above all things I ask clear everybody from under suspicion, there is no second party and I am the last.

William J. Bartholin.

Water Supply of a Mexican City Polluted by Natural Springs.

San Diego, Tex., Sept. 8.—Twenty are dead and over 400 seriously ill at Marfa, Mexico, as the result of the breaking forth of arsenic springs in the mountains near the city. The waters of the arsenic springs have united with those of the springs which supply the city with drinking water and the distributing reservoir is said to be thoroughly impregnated with arsenic. People are stricken in all parts of the city and physicians were wired for from all the surrounding mining camps and towns. The citizens are now suffering for want of water.

Forwood Retires Under Age Limit and Gen. O'Reilly Succeeds Him.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Brig. Gen. William H. Forwood, surgeon general of the army, closed his active military career by the operation of law on account of age. He was relieved of his duties by Brig. Gen. Robert M. O'Reilly, who was appointed surgeon general by the president several weeks ago in anticipation of Forwood's retirement. Gen. O'Reilly was recently in charge of the medical corps of the department of California. He was the official White House physician during the two terms of President Cleveland.

Shelbyville, Ky., Sept. 8.—Fisher Milton, a negro convicted of vagrancy, was sold into servitude for twelve months at public auction to David Murphy, a respectable negro farmer. JUDGE DURAND IS IMPROVING Democratic Nominee for Governor of Michigan Gaining in Strength.

Flint, Mich., Sept. 8.—Judge Durand keeps gaining health steadily. His temperature, pulse, respiration and appetite are normal. He has walked about the room without difficulty and slept well during the night. Political friends have decided, in the light of his rapid improvement, to allow his name to remain on the Democratic ticket at least until Tuesday, when his brother, L. T. Durand, will present his letter of acceptance to the state committee. Final disposition of the matter will be largely dependent on his health that day and is in the hands of the committee. His family prefers, on some accounts, to have his name dropped, but may yield to the importunities of the Democratic leaders and friends.

IOWA IS STRUCK BY A TORNADO

Cloudburst and Terrific Wind Cause Wild Havoc at Albia and Hite-man.

Ottumwa, Iowa, Sept. 8.—Houses blown from their foundations, barns destroyed, chimneys blown down and havoc done to telegraph and telephone lines is the story of the damage caused by a storm of cyclonic character which struck the towns of Albia and Hite-man, about thirty miles west of this city last night. At Albia the wind was accompanied by a cloudburst and for more than an hour the rain descended in torrents, flooding the streets and the ravines near the city. A terrific electrical display was experienced. Trees were uprooted and the havoc caused by the storm was everywhere in evidence.

METEOR STRIKES IN COLORADO

Passes Over Buena Vista and Creates a Fissure in a Peak.

Buena Vista, Colo., Sept. 8.—A bright meteor passed over Buena Vista, striking the earth near Buffalo Peaks, ten miles north of here. For several seconds the city was as light as day, the light being a bright blue and changing to a dark red just before the meteor struck the mountain. As it passed over the city a sputtering could plainly be heard by those watching the ball of fire in its course through space. When it struck the earth the report sounded like the explosion of a heavy dynamite charge. The southern hump of Buffalo peak shows a new fissure where the meteor struck.

Wearing of Thumb Rings.

Thomas a Becket possessed a thumb ring set with a valuable ruby, which was about the size of a hen's egg. This ring was a gift from Louis VII. of France. At the reformation Bluff King Hal seized the archbishop's ring from his despoiled shrine and took it for his own personal adornment, thus bringing thumb rings back into fashion for a while. They had long been abandoned by the upper classes and had come to be considered as indicative of the bourgeois class.
